News Release: September 25, 2003

The Town of Glastonbury’s Annual Report for Fiscal Year ending 2002 was judged the Most Outstanding overall of those submitted by 41 municipalities competing in the Annual Report Contest sponsored by the Institute of Public Service at the University of Connecticut. Other winning towns receive certificates based upon their standings with other towns of similar population.

To encourage better municipal reporting and to heighten interest in local public affairs, the Institute of Public Service has sponsored an annual competition for Connecticut towns and cities since 1945. A panel of judges evaluated entries based upon the report’s attractiveness, reader understanding, content, and citizen usefulness. This represents the last contest as the Institute of Public Service has been closed.

The list of award winners by population classification is as follows:
